Jivka Ivanova, B.A., B.B.A. 2005, stands ready to make a contribution to the world, specifically her homeland, Bulgaria, where she dreams of becoming prime minister. Her first stop is New York City, where Jivka has landed a job at JP Morgan. When she returns to Bulgaria, she wants to run for public office. "I want to get involved in the Ministry of Finance and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs," she says. "I like to challenge myself and am not afraid of speaking my mind and fighting for social justice."

“I don’t know if I would have discovered economics at another school. I started out as a chemistry major thinking I’d be premed. But then I realized that wasn’t for me. The Core Curriculum here forces you to take a lot of different subjects, which gives you an opportunity to see what you really like.”

—Julye Clark
of Sumner, Mississippi business and economics major
Class of 2006

“Maybe it’s naïve, but I really do want to make the world a better place. And I think one person can really make a difference. You may not be able to see the effect of what you’re doing right away, but every small action counts.”

—Sarah Gardner-Cox
of Austin, Texas
